DXCATALOG

What is the main ingredient of healthy digital transformation? If you said “accurate master data”, you would be right. Product master data includes all product, pricing, and shipping data that makes commercial exchanges between you and your partners possible. And to make the process as smooth as possible, this data has to be 100% accurate.

DxCatalog is a master data harmonization tool that ensures all parties have up-to-date and correct product references. By integrating it with your invoicing, order management and logistics, your entire P2P and O2C flows will run smoothly. It's time to say goodbye to disputes, errors, and sluggish product validation!
