DXLOGISTICS

From request to delivery, a product passes through many parties and processes. The ordering process generates waybills, dispatch and receipt advices, bills of lading and status messages. In other words: new paper documents you have to register and validate. So, why not automate?

DxLogistics acts as a bridge across the entire supply chain, getting buyers, suppliers, and transporters at the same table. Our platform digitalizes and validates all logistics documents, keeping all parties informed of the delivery's status. In the end, all that's left for you is to get ready for packing and unpacking!
